Logo Identity & Branding

A brand is more than the name or visual element used to represent your company. It is the emotional and psychological associations that a person makes with your business, product or service. The first step is really very important to get your business logo design perfect, the first time. Because the first impression is the last impression. Changing it later costs 100 times more or you'll be stuck with a logo you don't 'really' like.
